We don't wonder at the Courier. It has had nothing to do with the Democratic party in this State, in either its victories or defeats. It does not know very well what it is about anyhow. But it strikes as as a little singular that men who came into an organization and reaped its benefits should uow ignore it and assume to dictate to the rest of mankind, and without the slightest authority, expect other people to come at their beck and call.

We not only will not support it, but we denonnee the whole movement as calculated to defeat sound Democratic principals.
